Record of Officer Decisions in line with the Openness of Local Government Bodies Regulations 2014

The Council notes that it records in its minutes any decisions which it has delegated to officers. An Authorisation Slip is also held for payments detailing the same. The Council notes if any decisions fall within delegated authority to an officer, and are eligible for record, in line with the Openness of Local Government Bodies Regulations 2014, then the officer responsible will record these decisions as soon as reasonably practical after the decision has been made.

It should be noted that the Government's Guide to the same legislation¹ states not all decisions will be recorded, and the requirement to record applies to all decisions taken by officers whilst acting under a specific express authorisation and to only three categories of decision taken whilst acting under a general authorisation. These categories cover decisions to grant a permission or licence; that affect the rights of an individual (i.e. to change an individual's legal rights); or to award a contract or incur expenditure which, in either case, materially affects that relevant local government body's financial position.

The Guide goes on to advise "officers take many administrative and operational decisions about how they go about their day to day work within the council's or local body's rules. These decisions will not need to be recorded.

It is further confirmed that members of the public will not be able to inspect some recorded decisions if the whole or part of the records contains confidential or exempt information. Examples of decisions that should be recorded could include: decisions about awarding contracts above specified individual or total values (the values will vary according to the relevant council or local government body).

The Guide advises that decisions that do not need to be recorded might include the following examples:

- i) Routine administrative and organisational decisions such as giving permission to a local society to use the authority's premises;
- ii) decisions on operational matters such as day to day variations in services;

The Guide also confirms it is for the council or local government body to decide what information should be recorded on the basis of the national rules. The Council's register of officer decision making can be found on the table overleaf.
